Male Medicine

Nothing is simpler than or as sad as male medicine. The blame doesn't lie with the medical community, lord knows they've tried, but instead lies with men themselves. There are only two commonly accepted prescriptions for men - "walk it off" or surgery. What follows is the mancyclopedia of male disorders and medical terms:

Manarexia - Weight loss from excessive consumption of light beer, fat free foods, and other "Lite" products. The condition is characterized by listlessness, short temper, and glazed eyes. Manarexics can be seen gazing longingly at other men eating "REAL" food. Manarexia is usually brought on by either doctor's orders following a heart attack, or more commonly, a wife or girl friend.

Manopause - A general irritability experienced during middle age. Relief is often sought by sufferers through purchases of sports cars, white shoes and belts, Caribbean Cruises, and thirty year old mistresses. A little "man to man" advice, no matter how deep the depression, stick to disappointing one woman at a time.

Manstruation - An unexplainable and uncharacteristic bout of male moodiness and emotionalism. Male friends of the afflicted are likely to say, "it must be his time of the month."

Mangina - 1) Chest pain and tingling of the left arm roundly ignored by men until after their first heart attack.

2) A term used to describe the genitalia of men being domineered by the women in their lives.

Mandrogenous - When a man isn't sure whether he's dealing with a chick or a dude. Most frightening to men is when there is an attraction to the person in question. At this point a man will not press forward for fear that resolution of the question may confirm his homophobic fears. This is referred to as "too much information".

Manatomy - Study of the male anatomy. Okay, let's face it; every male part has a female counterpart except one. So manatomy is pretty much the study of that one part.

Manthrax

Manemia - The result of giving up red meat. See also Manarexia.

Manary - A slang term applied to man suffering from jaundice.

Mandaid - A dressing applied to superficial male injuries resulting from minor accidents such as cutting off a finger with a chain saw, puncturing a foot during an aggressive game of lawn darts, or facial injuries suffered while teasing animals at the zoo.

Mandage - A dressing applied to more substantial male injuries to stem the tide of blood resulting from activities such as running with the bulls in Pamplona, do-it-yourself bungi jumping, sledding behind the car, hunting, and taunting prisoners on the chain gang. The most common words heard before a mandage-worthy episode are "Watch this!"

Manuerysm - A congenital weakness in the blood vessels of the brain that won't permit a man to take a normal blow to the head from a bottle or pool cue at the local bar.

Mantedote - Viagra, Cialis, or any other drug that relieves impotence. To date no man has complained to a doctor or anyone else about an erection that lasts longer than four hours. It's a good thing.

Mantibiotics - These are the medicines prescribed by a doctor that lie unused in a cabinet while a man self medicates with a fine microbrew or a cold Bud.

Manectomy - The first procedure in a sex change. Most men's thighs clench just at the thought of it.

Manecdote

Male Anatomy

Male anatomy is a broad and complicated topic. Just kidding. Male anatomy, and possibly the course of the planets, revolve around the penis. It defines men. It's a divining rod, an onboard GPS, a second brain. Some (women) would say it's a man's primary organ of thought. There maybe nothing on Earth with more synonyms and euphemisms than the penis, the Eiffel Tower of love, the garden weasel, the one eyed serpent. Well, you get the idea.

Male Emotions

I know! Who knew? It isn't that men don't have emotions it's just that their range is so limited and slow to appear as to seem nonexistent. Like watching a glacier move,, without incredible patience and scientific instrumentation you're likely to miss them.

Mandroid - The impression women have that men are emotionless robots. This image is fueled by a permanent expression of resignation and repetitious uttering of "Nothing's wrong," and "I'm fine."

Mankerchief - a pocket treasure chest where a man keeps his mucus collection. In a pinch it can double as a tourniquet or mandage. After such duty, a tetnus shot and a course of mantibiotics is recommended. When offered to a woman as an act of chivalry, the smart play is to politely decline.

Manolantern

Manscaping - A synonym for waxing. There are only five reasons why a man would wax; homosexuality, masochism, a dare, drunkenness, or a hot woman insists. The leading reason is being dared by a hot woman while drunk.

Manscape

Mangaroo - A synonym for a man with a pouch, man-purse, satchel, valise, or whatever else he would like to call it.

Manslide

Manguage - A reduced vocabulary where many words have been replaced by grunts and twitches women have trouble deciphering.
